

Emerging Adult Program

Creating healthy connections to self and others.

Connection is the key to recovery.

Emerging adults confronted with substance use disorders deserve a chance to reach their full potential. As part of Ashley's core inpatient programs, the Emerging Adult Program helps patients achieve independence and a high quality of life free of substances. The program focuses on developing a healthy connection to self and others, as well as a sense of meaning and purpose.

“ Choose courage over comfort. Choose whole hearts over armor. And choose the great adventure of being brave and afraid. At the exact same time. ”

-Brene Brown

How the Program Works

The Emerging Adult Program consists of 28 days of inpatient treatment at our main campus in Havre De Grace, Maryland. Experienced staff guide patients through interactive workshops and experiential therapies designed to engage emerging adults and give them the tools needed to make long-term recovery possible. Most programming is gender- and group-based. Throughout the month participants:

- Undergo onsite, medically monitored detoxification if needed.
- Attend individual and group counseling and case-management sessions.
- Address co-occurring issues such as grief, anxiety, depression, and trauma.
- Overcome developmental issues and challenges specific to emerging adults.
- Attend life-skills training workshops to support future healthy living.
- Work through the 12-Step Recovery Program at meetings tailored to young people.
- Learn about mindfulness and meditation.
- Strengthen relationships with their family and loved ones.

Additional services include direct access to medical, psychiatric, psychological, and clinical services; art therapy and group theracoustic activities; and community-building and recreational activities. The patient, their family, counselors and patient care coordinators will collaborate to create an individualized aftercare plan to sustain recovery upon completion of the program. Extended care programs are also available to those who need more support beyond the successful completion of an inpatient treatment program.

How to Participate

The Emerging Adult Program serves men and women who want to take on life with confidence. This program is suited for those who want to become independent adults, develop responsibility and life skills, and gain freedom from substances. Participation in our Family Wellness Program is required so families are able to pave the path toward recovery together. A Legacy of Compassionate, Effective Care

Our founders, Mae Ashley Abraham and Father Joseph C. Martin, believed we should treat substance use disorders differently. To them, SUD was a disease — a disease they both lived with. They knew the only path to lifelong recovery was one of understanding and empathy. Their legacy has helped more than 45,000 patients and 100,000 family members heal their minds, bodies, and spirits. We know that recovery means everything. And we know that recovery is possible.
